📄 Summary

I'm a passionate and ethical software engineer who loves building things that make a real difference. With experience in JavaScript, React.js, Node.js, and SQL, I've developed full-stack applications that are not just functional but meaningful. I care deeply about using technology responsibly — whether it's respecting user privacy, writing clean code, or creating inclusive and user-friendly solutions. I take pride in learning fast, collaborating openly, and always doing my work with purpose and integrity.
